

Registration for exams

The registration for exams occurs via TUMonline. You can use this online portal for a variety of tasks including:

- registering for and withdrawing from examinations
- checking the examination room and date
- checking the examination results
- communicating with the lecturers
- downloading Notification of Examination Results
- printing out credit verification and account statements

Deregistration from exams

Please note that generally you only have the option to deregister from an exam up to one week before the scheduled date of the exam. In the upcoming semesters, please ensure that you keep the registration and deregistration deadlines in mind.

Failing the exam due to sickness / inability to attend

Please note that generally you only have the option to deregister from an exam up to one week before the scheduled date of the exam.

In this case you will be marked as absent during the exam and in your examination report in TUMonline it will show that you failed (5 for not attending). Either way, you are allowed to retake the exam as many times as necessary. Once you have passed the exam, the grade 5 (for not attending the exam) will then be replaced with the new grade and the new grade will count on your transcript. A student must pass all exams in order to receive the degree, so you will not end up with a grade 5 on your transcript.

So in general you don't need a medical certificate if you can't do the exam, you can for example cancel your registration before the exam and if you are ill on that day, we don't need a medical certificate but he/she can provide a medical certificate and keep it in case he/she needs it in the future for a hardship application.
