Organizing your Studies

Would you like to pay the student fees for the next semester, re-enroll or take a leave of absence? Here you will find information.

Learning with Success

TUM smoothes the path to learning success by supporting its students with a number of tools and resources, including workshops, advice, software utilities and study areas.

Career Infos

TUM supports alumni, students and doctoral candidates throughout their lives when it comes to careers and jobs. Are you looking for a suitable internship position? Or do you already have your degree and want to start working full-time? Then take advantage of the diverse offers of the TUM Community!

Offers from the TUM Institute for LifeLong Learning

TUM supports students right from the start with lifelong learning and offers a wide variety of offers.

Labor laws for international students

International students from countries outside the European Union or European Economic Area may work in Germany on a restricted basis only. In contrast, most European students have unrestrained access to the job market, essentially putting them on equal footing with German students.

English Writing Center

The English Writing Center (EWC) offers free one-to-one consulting in English writing to all members of the TUM community. This can be helpful for your thesis, but also for job applications.

Graduation

You are a graduate – or about to become one? Here you will find information about writing your thesis, disenrollment and our graduation documents.
